

Is your partner or someone in your family treating you badly?

What is domestic abuse?

Domestic Abuse is when your partner, ex partner or a family member treats you badly. It could be that they hit you or hurt you in another way.

about everybody

Domestic abuse can happen to men and women.

Domestic abuse can happen to people who are 'straight' or people who identify as gay, lesbian, bisexual or transgender.

call you names

Or they might stop you doing things like seeing friends.

It might be that they say horrible things to you or threaten you.

They could break your things to upset you. This could be a mobile phone or other things that you need or like.

money

They might steal money or benefits from you or buy things for themselves with your money.

angry

You should always feel safe. Nobody should make you feel scared.

mobile phone

Sexual abuse means when a person makes you do sexual activities that you do not want to do. This can include taking sexual pictures or filming you without your agreement, or threatening to share the photos or film with other people.

feeling low

How domestic abuse can make you feel

You might feel:

- Frightened
- Embarrassed
- Confused
- Worried about what will happen if you tell someone worried

You might think it's your fault, or they might tell you it is your fault

– this is not true.

Domestic abuse and sexual abuse is wrong.

People who can help you

In an emergency or if you are in danger you can call 999.

You can call the non-emergency number 101 or you can ask someone you trust to do this for you if you are scared to talk to the police.

If you do not want to contact the police you can still get help.

If you live in Cambridgeshire or Peterborough, you can call the Domestic Abuse Support Service on 0300 373 1073

or you can email them at DASSReferrals@impakt.org.uk

You can also speak to your social worker, your doctor or someone else that you trust.

What happens next?

You will need to give some information about yourself such as your name and address and date of birth. You will need to explain what has been happening.

social worker

An Independent Domestic Violence Advisor (IDVA) or a Domestic Abuse Support Worker might support you.

They can help you to make plans to stay safe. They can talk to other organisations on your behalf like Housing or Social Workers.

Remember, you are not alone.

You do not have to deal with this by yourself.

You might be able to get support called Adult Safeguarding.

You can speak to your social worker or another professional about this.

You can also report abuse by ringing the telephone numbers below:

0345 045 5202 if you live in Cambridgeshire

01733 747474 If you live in Peterborough
